

Top Global Issues

The purpose of this activity is for students to start thinking through current world issues and how ESG might apply to them. Students can then begin to think about ways that issues may impact certain companies and make them more appealing to investors.

Part 1: Brainstorm

Students should work in groups. Each group should brainstorm 4-6 significant issues facing the world - this could be the environment, political issues, etc.

Part 2: Record

Students should use the table below to record the results of their brainstorming. They can elaborate on each issue, explaining its connection to ESG and ESG investing. Students don't need to fill all the available spaces.
